

Kevin Peck has been the Director of the Eastern Arizona College Small Business Development Center since 2010. A life-long Arizonan and a two-time business owner himself, he now spends his days helping others to achieve the American Dream of owning and running their own businesses. He is a graduate of Snowflake High School, Eastern Arizona College and Western New Mexico University, where he graduated with both his BA and MBA. In addition to his work with the SBDC, he also has the opportunity to teach for both Eastern Arizona College and Arizona State University. He currently serves as the President of the Mt. Graham Regional Medical Center Foundation, Past President and current Treasurer for the Safford Rotary Club, member of the Graham County Economic Development Organization and on the SEAGO Economic Advisory Council. He and his wife Jody have been married for 31 years and have four daughters and four (soon to be seven) grandchildren.
