

Charlie has been the North Platte/McCook Center Director for the Nebraska Business Development Center (NBDC) since 2013. He resides in McCook, Nebraska with his wife Trina and their five children (Readin 13, Eden 11, Avalyn 10, Rya 4, and Ryker 4).

For NBDC, Charlie provides direct one-on-one consulting assistance to small business owners and prospective business owners (entrepreneurs) where he offers a variety of NBDC services such as: business planning assistance, financial analysis, market research, marketing planning, operations assistance and more. He holds his Master of Business Administration (MBA) from UNK and is a certified Economic Development Finance Professional (EDFP) from the National Development Council and serves as committee members for the Southwest Nebraska Resource Providers, McCook Retail Committee, Cultivating Rural Leaders, McCook Optimist Club, and NSAA high school football official.