

Tom Reynolds, Business Advisor, Albany SBDC

Tom has a long history of excellent work with the SBDC. He was a center director in Utica in the 1990s. He left the SBDC to work with economic development for the city of Utica, and after a few years joined the New York Business Development Corporation for a decade. At NYBDC he helped hundreds of small businesses obtain the financing they needed to achieve their dreams. In 2014, he came back to the SBDC as a business advisor at the Albany regional center and has been helping entrepreneurs and small business owners succeed. Between 2014 and 2019, when he was selected as the State Star, he helped clients invest more than $44.7 million in their business enterprises and create or save 875 jobs.