

Jeff Mather has an extensive background in business. His experience includes a large Fortune 500 company to owning and operating his own small business to business consulting and coaching. That experience includes both goods and service industries and several disciplines and departments.