

Mike is the Impact, Evaluation & Process Manager for the Missouri SBDC. His responsibilities include data/impact integrity and analysis, stakeholder reporting, data visualization for stakeholder relations, industry and labor market research, process development and implementation, and program evaluation. Mike is not only an experienced survey writer, but also uses analytics and data visualization to maximize the programmatic decisions revolving around the survey topic. In addition, Mike has been a workforce development professional for over 15 years and works with the Missouri SBDC and MU Extension Labor & Workforce in this area. He frequently writes and presents new and innovative workforce curricula. Mike has a Bachelor of Science in biology and a Bachelor of Science in education, both from Central Methodist University in Fayette, MO.