Amy Bard assists NH SBDC clients in the Southern region as a business advisor. In 2010 Amy became a part-time NH SBDC advisor working in the Nashua and Manchester region, and then accepted a full-time advising position at the Center for Women's Business Advancement at SNHU. Amy returned to the NH SBDC in 2016 to take on her current full-time business advising position. Prior to becoming a business advisor, Amy spent several years in the hospitality industry focusing on sales & catering, and human resources. Later, transitioning to the tech sector, she assisted technology companies in sales communications, product marketing, and product/sales training. Additionally, Amy previously owned and operated a small, home-licensed New Hampshire food business.
