

Harlie Juedes

Outreach Assistant Director

Harlie specializes in financial and marketing consulting. Her marketing expertise includes web design, social media, online ads, and graphic/package design.

She is a patient listener and communicator that works quickly and effectively to produce high quality work. When given the opportunity, she loves to brainstorm and provide creative ways to solve tricky problems or projects.

Harlie also really enjoys working with clients, saying “You can truly feel the impact you are making when you work one-on-one with clients to help them reach their goals.”

Some of the most meaningful work to her is working on a marketing or financial project for a business owner who is very passionate about their business and providing that product or service for the community.

In her free time, she likes painting and design projects. Harlie was a part of her community's first annual Community Supported Arts program and the instruction and development of the annual UW-Eau Claire Blugold Beginnings Exploring the Arts summer camps. Her work has made it on the cover of two Volume One Magazine editions and she has her paintings in permanent collections throughout the Marshfield Clinic Health System.
