

Powering the creation, growth, and success of small business in North Dakota

At our core, we believe: *when small businesses thrive, communities thrive... North Dakota thrives.

Laura Weber, Bowman ND SBDC Business Advisor BIO

Laura Weber grew up on a farm/ranch near Ralph, SD. Laura received her bachelor's degrees in Business Management and Art History from Concordia College. Laura and her husband live in Scranton, ND and have four children.

Laura has served as the Business Advisor for the Bowman SBDC since 2013 and has a specialty in rural entrepreneurship. In addition to assisting her small business clients, she has worked for a range of nonprofits. Laura found her passion in helping others, and "enjoys assisting clients in their process of exploring, starting, and building a business." Laura is also a lead coordinator of FUSION, a large annual conference that is held in her small community, focusing on their regional business needs with both professional and personal development topics.

Small businesses are the foundation of our most rural communities. Laura believes there are no limitations for rural businesses, only opportunities for big results, and through her advising, she supports clients in creating their own impact.
